“From safety program development to CPR certification training and AED program management to litigation support, Evolved Safety works with you to provide a custom on-site solution for your safety program.”

Custom Content Creation

At times, off-the-shelf training modules fall short of meeting your clients' unique challenges. When a standardized course offering cannot convey the specific knowledge your clients need to provide to their workforce, you need a partner that can deliver a client's unique training message efficiently and effectively.

We work in collaboration with your clients throughout the process so they have full control over the course content. When it's time for your client to take control of their content, we are on their team.

Custom courses starting at $12,500 / course

On-site Training & Consulting

From safety program development to CPR certification training and AED program management to litigation support, Evolved Safety works with you to provide a custom, on-site solution for your safety program. Our large network of trainers and consultants is available for both permanent and temporary placement services throughout the United States, ensuring quality and consistent results.

Starting at $1,650 / day, plus travel and expenses

Micro-Learning Training

Integrate training into your employees' daily routine with three- to five-minute video training sessions delivered via a cellphone or other mobile devices. Micro-Learning helps you get training to employees where and when they can take it, keeps employees engaged in learning and increases retention of important information, all with less impact on productivity. More than 1,000 courses are available; most in English and Spanish languages.

Ranging from $1.50 to $9.95 / view

Virtual Reality Training

Workplace scenario training that can be difficult, expensive or dangerous becomes vastly more practical, cost-effective and safe in an immersive, virtual reality training simulation. Using a headset and controllers, trainees look, speak and move about freely in a 3D virtual setting, interacting with simulated real-world tools, machinery and other trainees and instructors. Best of all, our revolutionary VR training experiences are now available for a low monthly fee.
