

Welcome to MEXICO

Awe-inspiring resorts, set on powdery sands on sprawling coastlines. Darling coastal villages, where fútbol is played by youngsters on the same streets the greatest European conquistadors and Aztec, Incan, and Mayan warriors once strode; where old traditions live on, tortillas are still handmade, chocolate is served spiced, and Mayan and Nahuatl flows like the rivers that run through the country's jungle.

These are only some of the lasting impressions made by the United Mexican States, the 11th most populated country in the world. Featuring a landscape that offers sugar-white beaches and cinnamon deserts, forgotten cities and remembered, and restored colonial hubs in between, it's no wonder 15-16 million Americans cross the second-longest border in the world each year in search of paradise.

They head south to feel the kiss of the sun on their skin and the whisper of clear water at their feet. The rush of warm air as they zip through lush rainforests, countered by the crisp coolness of a refreshing cenote. The taste of pestle-ground guacamole, filling tamales, savory barbacoa, or heavenly carnitas, spiced with fresh chiles and tempered with a cornucopia of tropical fruit and mild cheeses.

From Baja California to the Yucatan Peninsula, the Gulf of Mexico to the Sea of Cortez, the magic of Mexico awaits, each destination eager to make its own lasting impression.

Av. Adolfo Ruiz Cortines Diana CosteraMigu Av. Ejido Condesa Beach (200) San Diego Fort Acapulco 0 L D ACAPULCO EAST Las Playas (200) Peninsula La Roqueta PACIFIC OCEAN

Mexico's oldest and most popular resort destination continues to hold its luster more than 50 years since it first became a favorite of American Hollywood jet-setters. Richly situated on two stunning bays—the Bay of Santa Lucia and Puerto Marqués—and only ten minutes away from 1950s hot spots Caleta and Caletilla Beach, the glitz of this city can be found in the resorts that line the shores, the splashy lounges and sultry nightlife of famous boulevard Costera Miguel Aleman, and the glamorous restaurants that peer down from dramatic cliffs, where they serve signature renditions of pescado a la talla.

This downward perspective has fascinated many, as international attraction La Quebrada proves. Here, divers train their entire lives to take the plunge 136 feet into the Pacific Ocean. For those preferring a view from below, the sport fishing, diving, and snorkeling are rewarded with sightings of turtles, eagle rays, and even friendly whale sharks among the shipwrecks, all of whom welcome travelers to a continuing golden age of the Pacific Coast.

ISLA MUJERES/PLAYA MUJERES/ COSTA MUJERES/CANCUN

A Place Like No Other

One of Mexico's most beloved beach destinations, developed exclusively with tourism in mind, the tip of the Yucatan Peninsula is perhaps the best example of a crowd-pleasing destination on this side of the Americas. The sun worshipper and water lover; historian and adventurer; spa hopper and wildlife explorer; gourmand and gourmet; families with children in tow, empty nesters, and couples in every stage of love...there truly is something for everyone in this slice of paradise along the Caribbean Sea.

At the heart of the action lies Cancun, a seven-shaped strip of stunning resorts set on 14 miles of bright white, crushed coral beaches, and host to over 3.3 million visitors per year. Divided into the popular and lively Hotel Zone, Downtown Cancun, and the Ecological Reserve, golf, snorkeling, scuba diving, wind surfing, water skiing, sailing, deep sea fishing, and jungle tour opportunities all tempt loungers to leave the sugary sand, no matter in which region they set up their chairs.

If action is what you're seeking an escape from, the "Island of Women," or Isla Mujeres, is romance at its best. Once known as a sanctuary of the Mayan goddess of love and fertility, Ixchel, here lies unspoiled beaches, quietly luxurious resorts, and lovely restaurants and bars in Playa Norte, accessible by golf carts, mopeds, and bicycles. Even gentle whale sharks retreat to these calm waters during summer, joining the many visitors who take equal advantage of the deep sea fishing available here. Nearby, the tiny, motor-free Isla Holbox also provides tourists with an opportunity to swim with the world's largest shark, or mingle with flamingos—over 40,000 gather between spring and fall—while Isla Contoy, inhabited only by wildlife and welcoming a mere 200 visitors per day by law, lets visitors see nature the way nature intended.

RIVIERA MAYA

Gateway to the Mayan World

To discover all of the Mexican jungle's ancient secrets, go to the Riviera Maya. Known for its 70-mile stretch of postcard-perfect waterfront, this region is also the site of the ruins of Tulum and its eponymous beach, recently rated the best in Mexico by U.S. News & World Report. Equally famous for its cenotes—stunning underground sinkholes filled with crystalline water—as it is for its shoreline, rest and adventure go hand in hand here.

A stone's throw away from the peaceful resorts that line the Riviera Maya's shores is the renowned touristic area of Cancun; the colorful villages of Playacar; and, of course, lively Playa del Carmen, where the nightlife keeps visitors on their feet.

Nature-lovers will quickly find what they seek, as well. Xcaret, the massive eco-archeological theme park, is based here and, just south, you'll find the 1.3 million-acre Sian Ka'an Biosphere Reserve, a UNESCO World Heritage Site with 23 archeological sites. Not to be forgotten are the famous coral reefs of Cozumel and the Puerto Aventuras marina, popular with fishermen and yachters alike.

COZUMEL Heaven on Earth

Cozumel, Mexico's largest island at 28 by ten miles, has long been a favorite cruising port, even back in the 17th century, when it served as a treasury for pirates. Today, it's a treasury for marine life, with visibility of up to 200 feet and cenote diving sites created by underground rivers. Known as one of the world's most spectacular places to scuba dive, visitors to nearby Riviera Maya and Playa del Carmen often take the ferry ride just for the 25 coral reefs found off this island's shores.

On this mostly undeveloped, island jungle destination, nature takes the spotlight. Part of the Cozumel Reefs National Park, the Chankanaab National Park features the Chankanaab Lagoon-the only inland coral reef in the world-and the Punta Sur Eco Park, another top attraction. Its Faro de Celarain lighthouse has a museum, observation towers with crocodile views, and the old whistling Mayan lighthouse, El Caracol. Four Mayan archaeological sites round out the ancient culture, while the town of San Miguel provides a taste of today's culture, with shopping, restaurants, and active nightlife.

GUADALAJARA Mexico's Silicon Valley

The second-largest city in Mexico, birthplace of mariachi, and home of the Mexican Hat Dance—Jarabe Tapatio, locally—this capital of the state of Jalisco is more recently known as the country's "Silicon Valley." Its rich history spans back to 1542, when it was founded by royal Spanish decree; the history, culture, and colonial splendor are an urban complement to the more commonly visited coasts.

With a minimum of 15 languages spoken by its original pre-colonial inhabitants, Guadalajara's diverse influences are far-reaching. More than 40 consulates are present among its many parks, signature plazas, and baroque Government Palace. Not far from the cathedral, no fewer than eight world-recognized universities attract students and scholars, and craftsmen ply their trade even in this modern age. Artists, including fashion designers, also flock to this destination, which hosts the country's biggest event in fashion, Intermoda. A city whose graceful arcades, bubbling fountains, winding promenades, lovely architecture, and mariachi bands are never far, inspiration is just as close in Guadalajara.

IXTAPA / ZIHUATANEJO

Natural Wonder of the Mexican Pacific

Only 4.3 miles separate resort towns Ixtapa and Zihuatenejo, but these sisters couldn't be more different. Ixtapa, a former coconut plantation, is the more glamorous sibling, with a Hotel Zone of highrises, all-inclusive resorts, and upscale shopping. Its proximity to two championship golf courses, and the Magic World Aquatic Park completes its appeal. Down the road, Zihuatanejo is the laid-back, free spirit, a quaint fishing village with winding streets of galleries, folk art shops, and beachfront palapa-style restaurants.

The bright blue waters both towns are blessed with mark them clearly as equally alluring tourist and fishing destinations. Sailfish average 75 - 100 pounds; black marlin can be 1,100 pounds (the biggest recorded catch in the area); and snorkeler favorite Las Gatas Beach is named after the number of cat sharks residing off its shores. Experienced divers head to Los Morros de Potosi's granite-rock cave network, but those who want to enjoy the Pacific above it can find their bliss in a sailboat or on water skis.

CALA DE MAR RESORT & SPA IXTAPA ★★★★

LOS CABOS At the World's End

The sapphire Sea of Cortez meets the Pacific at El Arco, arguably the most photographed landmark of Baja California Sur. Originally inhabited by the Pericu Indians, this mountainous desert peninsula is broken up into three districts: Cabo San Lucas, The Corridor, and San Jose del Cabo, each enjoying 350 long days of warm sun per year.

Cabo San Lucas, the "Striped Marlin Capital of the World" and host to the biggest-stakes fishing tournament on the planet, is a fisherman's paradise by day and a reveler's dream by night. Trendy restaurants and bars, a lovely marina, and the Luxury Avenue Mall lure travelers the way anglers draw in their catches. The fun continues at Medano Beach, where The Corridor begins. Twenty miles of upscale resorts, impressive spas, championship golf courses, and beaches lead to San Jose del Cabo, a sleepy town of cobblestone alleys and colonial architecture, small art galleries and boutiques, and other old world charms. From here, it's easy to get to the underground Rio San Jose, which flows down from the Laguna Mountains that guard this treasure.

Cancun | Los Cabos | Nuevo Vallarta

MANZANILLO Sailfish Capital of the World

As the first shipping yard in Latin America, Manzanillo remains Mexico's busiest seaport, as well known for its sailfish and fishing tournaments as it is for downtown Jardin's live music and dancing. Although it boasts a historic center with a main plaza overlooking the bay, most travelers venture north of the city to the four-mile hotel zone, wherein lie some of the best beaches, luxury resorts, and golf courses.

In this resort area, the Sierra Madre Mountains help keep temperatures slightly cooler, making the 350 annual days of sunshine even more enjoyable. The Bah'a de Manzanillo and Bah'a de Santiago—the more posh, newer section—and their variety of water sports, deep seaport fishing, and abundance of soft sand provide a wonderful way to while away a day of relaxing and waiting for the local phenomenon of green flash sunsets. For vacationers who want to inject some exploration into their getaway, San Patricio Melaque and Barre de Navidad, sister villages on a picturesque sandbar, await those intrepid travelers.

MAZATLAN

Colonial City on the Beach

Attractions stretch as far as the eye can see in Mazatlan, its long Golden Zone lining the twelve-mile Malecón, one of the longest boardwalks on the Pacific Coast. Vacationers are drawn to the popular beaches of Playa Sabalo and Las Gaviotas; one of the largest aquariums in Latin America; and two championship golf courses, as well as swordfish, tuna, and marlin fishing.

"The Pearl of the Pacific," this gem is more than a newer touristic area. Old Mazatlan's charming "tropical neoclassical" restored mansions enchant beside markets, shady plazas, and cafés, and its cultural diversity is best heard rather than seen. Banda, a musical fusion of Latin/German-polka styles, is unique to the Sinaloa state, and Mazatlecos dance without restraint during their famous Carnaval.

To add to this city's appeal are the nearby islands of Panejo and Chivos, favorite boating destinations; the three main islands of Deer, Bird, and Goat Islands; El Faro, once the tallest natural lighthouse in the world; and the "Devil's Cave," a historical pirate hideout. With these feasts for the senses and more, Mazatlan has become a perennial favorite.

MERIDA Pride of All

"The White City," nicknamed so for its signature limestone and squeaky-clean streets, is only 20 minutes from the beach and a day trip from Cancun, but a world apart from both. The capital and cultural and financial center of the Yucatan State, Merida's modern museums, art galleries, restaurants, and shops stand juxtaposed against its proximity to the Mayan ruins of Chichen Itza and Uxmal.

Within its walls, find meticulously restored plazas, cathedrals, and colonial mansions, and learn to move in Vaqueria regional styles or jarana folk dance against the sounds of wind and brass. Those seeking thorough authenticity can call for the bombas rhymes—short, clever banter exchanged between male and female dancers-in between songs. These traditions are only a small part of Merida's fascinating heritage. Isolated from other parts of Mexico due to its unique geography on the Five Hills of the ancient Mayan city of T'ho, Spanish is spoken with a distinctive accent and the cuisine is diverse, representative of the local culture that gives its people much to be proud of.

MEXICO CITY Capital in Movement

Known by turn as the "City of the Palaces" and "City of Hope," Mexico City—the oldest city in North America and one of the largest on earth—gives the words "world-class" a whole new meaning. Home to over 20 million people and the largest U.S. expatriate community, it's one of the richest destinations on the planet in both cultural and material wealth. Helicopters bypassing traffic in this bustling hub is a common sight, but the biggest and most affordable metro system in Latin America makes it easy for visitors to get around on their own.

Here, you'll run out of time before running out of attractions. The Modern Art Museum and National Museum of Anthropology are a stone's throw away from the palatial park, just south of Plaza Garibaldi and its live mariachi. The artsy neighborhoods of Zonas Rosa, Roma, Condesa, Coyoacan, and San Angel are beloved by visitors and foreign residents alike, and Polanco plays host to chic night spots and trendy restaurants, while a seasonal ice skating ring in the city square and the oldest university in the Americas round out intrigue to suit all ages.

PUERTO VALLARTA

Where Romance Comes to Play

Several destinations combine to create one of the most popular haunts of today's leisure traveler—Puerto Vallarta, which exploded onto the tourism scene with diversity that spans from world-class resorts on Banderas Bay to white-washed adobe houses on streets bursting with bougainvillea.

With a section formally designated as the Romantic Zone, it seems only fitting that at least one famous love blossomed here: Richard Burton and Liz Taylor rendezvoused while he filmed The Night of the Iguana in the south-side villages of Boca de Tomatlan and Mismaloya. Yet with Playa de los Muertos' golden shores beckoning, the enticement of celebrity pales in comparison.

In the other direction, follow the seaside promenade; as the coastline leads toward trendy Riviera Nayarit, the Hotel Zone and marina provide stunning accommodations and gourmet dining on one of the world's largest bays. From here, a rich marine life is just one warm stretch of sand away, and visitors can head back to shore for a nightlife that truly dazzles, or to the Old Town, where the colonial era rises to the forefront.

Travel Impressions does not accept liability for client luggage or personal property. Advice to international passengers on limitation of liability - Passengers embarking upon a journey involving an ultimate destination or a stop in a country other than the country of departure are advised that the provisions of an international treaty (the Warsaw Convention, the 1999 Montreal Convention, or other treaty), as well as a carrier's own contract of carriage or tariff provisions, may be applicable to their entire journey, including any portion entirely within the countries of departure and destination. The applicable treaty governs and may limit the liability of carriers to passengers for death or personal injury, destruction or loss of, or damage to, baggage, and for delay of passengers and baggage. Additional protection can usually be obtained by purchasing insurance from a private company. Such insurance is not affected by any limitation of the carrier's liability under an international treaty. For further information please consult your airline or insurance company representative. For such passengers on a journey to, from, or with an agreed stopping place in the United States of America, the Convention(s) provide (1) that the liability of carriers for death of or personal injury to passengers of up to 113,100 Special Drawing Rights (equal to approximately $175,000) per passenger shall not depend on negligence on the part of the carrier, and (2) such liability shall be limited to 113,100 Special Drawing Rights (equal to approximately $175,000) per passenger in the absence of negligence or other wrongful act or omission on the part of the carrier. Additional information on Special Drawing Rights is available at www.imf.org. For international travel (including domestic portions of international journeys) to, from, or with an agreed stopping place in the United States of America, liability for loss, delay, or damage to baggage is limited to 1,131 Special Drawing Rights (equal to approximately $1,750) per passenger for all baggage, including carry-on. Excess valuation may be declared on certain types of articles. Further information may be obtained from the carrier.

PACKAGE PRICE: The package prices include only items specifically stated in the participant(s) itinerary. Certain secondary features of a package (e.g., cocktail party, free sports, etc.) are based on supplier policy and may be changed, added or deleted after printing of literature. Hotel has the right to substitute services or accommodations in similar categories for items listed in the literature. Foreign government departure taxes, fees and tourist cards may be collected at the destination by the respective government authority. Please be advised that certain mandatory hotel-imposed charges, including, but not limited to, daily resort or facility fees, may be applicable to your stay and payable to the hotel at check- out from the property. You may wish to inquire with the hotel before your trip regarding the existence and amount of such charges.

The Department of Transportation (D.O.T.) has defined air transportation, tour or tour component as purchased when the full amount of that air transportation, tour or tour component has been paid by the consumer. Our intention is to provide you with the vacation which you have selected, at the price in effect at time of booking.

Pre-purchase price increases (increases to a vacation package without full payment on the record) including but not limited to an increase in the price of the air seat, an increase in the price for the carriage of the passenger baggage, an increase in the applicable fuel surcharge, or an increase in a government imposed tax or fee may apply. If for any reason we have to increase the price of your vacation, including an error made in computing your price, we will offer you the option of cancellation without charge, provided that you advise us within seven days of your receipt of notice of the increase. Post-purchase price increases (increases to a vacation package that has full payment on the record) are prohibited except for those increases related to government imposed taxes and fees. Change fees do not constitute an increase in the price of an already purchased ticket, as technically the consumer is purchasing a new ticket for new travel.

CHANGES AND CANCELLATIONS: Special features offered by hotels are subject to change at the hotel's discretion. In the unlikely event that a major change involving a pre-departure change of hotel, departure or return date, departure city or destination becomes necessary, we will notify you as soon as possible via the contact information in the booking.

If the number of individuals occupying a room changes due to an amendment or cancellation, the remaining travelers will be responsible for any additional costs incurred as a result of a change in the per person occupancy rate. If all passengers change it is considered a new booking and cancellation penalties will apply. Suppliers' cancellation provisions on optional tours only allow a refund if cancelled with the notice required by the supplier - see the excursion company for the applicable notice provisions or to arrange a refund. To cover your cancellation and change fees, you may purchase the Travel Protection Plus which must be included in the deposit or at time of booking. Nonrefundable hotels are not covered by the Cancel for Any Reason portion of Travel Protection Plus.

CHOICE OF LAW; RESOLUTION OF DISPUTES: This Agreement is governed by the laws of, and disputes shall be venued in, the State of New York, without reference to its choice of law doctrine. All disputes, claims or controversies arising out of or related to the services of this agreement shall be submitted to mediation and if the matter is not resolved through mediation, it shall be submitted for arbitration. Unless we agree otherwise in writing, any mediation and/or arbitration shall take place in the State of New York, New York County, and shall be administered by, and pursuant to the rules of, the American Arbitration Association. Disputes shall be arbitrated on an individual basis. There shall be no right or authority for any disputes to be arbitrated on a class action basis or in a purported representative capacity on behalf of the general public, other travel customers or other persons similarly situated. The arbitrator's authority to resolve disputes and to make awards is limited to disputes between you and us alone, and is subject to the limitations of liability set forth above. Furthermore, disputes brought by either party against the other may not be joined or consolidated in arbitration with disputes brought by or against any third party, unless agreed to in writing by all parties. No arbitration award or decision shall be given preclusive effect as to issues or claims in any dispute with anyone who is not a party to the arbitration. Should any portion of this section regarding the arbitrator's authority to resolve disputes between only you and us be stricken from this agreement or deemed otherwise unenforceable, then this entire section shall be stricken from this agreement. The provisions of this section may be enforced in a court of competent jurisdiction and the party seeking enforcement shall be entitled to an award of all costs, fees and expenses (including attorney fees), to be paid by the party against whom enforcement is ordered. This arbitration provision is made pursuant to a transaction involving interstate commerce, and shall be governed by the Federal Arbitration Act, 9 U.S.C. Sections 1-16, as it may be amended. Certain exclusions may not apply in some jurisdictions.

AIR TRANSPORTATION: Important airline ticket terms and conditions and other important notices apply to air transportation. Please visit http://www.travimp.com/airlinetickettc.html for more information. For further information, contact your airline representative. Violation of these restrictions will result in imprisonment and financial penalties.

HAZARDOUS MATERIALS RESTRICTIONS AND INSECTICIDE NOTICE: The FAA has issued "Hazardous Materials Restrictions" effective as of Jan. 1, 2015 - Federal law forbids the carriage of hazardous materials aboard aircraft in your luggage or on your person. A violation can result in five years' imprisonment and penalties of $250,000 or more (49 U.S.C. 5124), Hazardous materials include explosives, compressed gases, flammable liquids and solids, oxidizers, poisons, corrosives and radioactive materials, Examples: Paints, lighter fluid, fireworks, tear gases, oxygen bottles, and radio-pharmaceuticals. There are special exceptions for small quantities (up to 70 ounces total) of medicinal and toilet articles carried in your luggage and certain smoking materials carried on your person. Special restrictions and limitations for transporting Hazardous Materials and specifically Lithium Ion batteries, refer to www.faa.gov/go/ packsafe for more information. In the event a carry-on bag cannot be accommodated in the passenger cabin and has to be placed below in a cargo bin for any reason, any electronic device or spare Lithium-ion or any other type of battery permitted in carry-on baggage MUST be removed from the carry-on bag and remain in the possession of the passenger in the passenger cabin. For further information, contact your airline representative. Some countries may require aircraft cabin insecticide treatment for in-bound foreign flights. A list of such countries is available at https://www.transportation.gov/airconsumer/spray.

REQUIRED ENTRY/RE-ENTRY DOCUMENTATION: Proper documentation is your responsibility. The following information gives current requirements for United States citizens, effective at time of printing. This information may change, so see your travel agent or contact the consulate for the country to which you are traveling for current requirements. Passengers returning to the U.S. by air from any international destination must have a valid passport, and may be denied boarding by the airline if the passport is damaged, mutilated, or has excessive wear. A "Passport Card" is not acceptable. If your name on your passport (or for non-U.S. citizens, valid travel documents) does not match your name on your travel vouchers/tickets, you will not be allowed to travel. A passport valid for a minimum of 3 months past the date of arrival is required for U.S. citizens traveling to Panama. For details on how to obtain a passport, contact your local courthouse or post office. If you are not a U.S. citizen, contact the embassy of the country to which you are traveling to determine required entry documents. We regret that we cannot accept unaccompanied minors under 18 for any travel. Failure to comply with the above requirements will result in you not being allowed to travel. Passed by Congress in 2005, the REAL ID Act established minimum ID security standards and prohibits federal agencies, like TSA, from accepting licenses and identification cards for official purposes from states that do not meet these standards. Passengers with a driver's license issued by a state that is not compliant with the REAL ID ACT (and has not been granted an extension) will need to show an alternative form of acceptable identification for domestic air travel to board their flight. To check whether your state is compliant or has an extension, visit https://www.dhs.gov/real-id. If your state-issued ID or driver's license is not compliant, visit https://www.tsa.gov/travel/ security-screening/identification for alternate forms of acceptable ID.

DENIAL OF ENTRY: Certain countries may deny entry to travelers with even a minor criminal record, and if not a U.S. citizen, entry back into the U.S. Check with the U.S. Embassy and the embassy or consulate of the country being visited to ensure you can travel as planned. Travel Impressions does not accept responsibility if you are denied entry and cancellation penalties apply.

TRAVELING WITH CHILDREN: Some airlines do not charge for infants under two years of age, but the infant must sit on an adult's lap. Some airlines charge for infants or infant air-related taxes. Some countries charge infant departure taxes. If an infant reaches the age of two at any time during the vacation, federal law requires the purchase of a separate seat for any remaining portions of the flight. Mexican-born minors under 18 years of age traveling alone or with someone other than a parent or legal guardian, require special documentation to depart Mexico, even if the Minor is a Dual Mexican Citizen. For details, contact the Mexican embassy or visit: https://mx.usembassy.gov/implementation-ofmexican-regulations-regardingminor-travel. If your reservation includes children at a hotel not accepting children, you will be denied check-in at resort and will be responsible for any additional costs. Hotels may check passports to verify that children qualify for any discounted rate, and any applicable added charges are your responsibility. Child ages apply at time of travel, not at time of booking. Restrictions apply to "Kids Stay, Play and Eat FREE" programs. Children must be accompanied by fullpaying adults. At select hotels, a single parent traveling with up to three children may not be charged the single supplement. The hotels reserve the right to collect the single supplement in resort, or cancel any extra room upon arrival, if the promotional policy is not used in the manner for which it was intended. Restrictions apply.

HEALTH AND SAFETY TIPS: While most travel-domestic and international-is completed without incident, travel to certain destinations may involve more risk than travel to other destinations. Balcony railing heights in Mexico are lower than the mandated heights in the United States, and also may be lower in other countries. Low balcony railings create a risk of falls which may result in serious injury or death. Use common sense while vacationing abroad. For example, if you choose to drink alcohol, do so in moderation. In addition, be cognizant of the effects of mixing alcohol and certain medications. Should someone in your party become ill while on vacation, alert the resort front desk for immediate medical attention or call the emergency number provided by the resort. Also advise your Travel Agent as soon as possible, who may be able to provide assistance. If you have medical issues or concerns about medical services, Travel Impressions urges you to contact your hotel with specific questions. Please be aware that medical standards and training of emergency responders and resort medical facilities vary greatly, and health care abroad may not be the same as you might expect at home. It may be standard policy for hospitals and medical providers abroad to require cash payment upfront for services. Check with your insurance provider regarding claims for reimbursement. Sports and aquatic equipment, especially scuba gear, may not meet U.S. safety standards and many resort pools and beaches may lack lifeguards. In tropical climates, we strongly recommend the use of insect repellent, especially during rainy season; seek shade in order to avoid heat exhaustion, and stay hydrated. Bottled drinking water is recommended.

Travel Impressions urges passengers to review current travel advisories, warnings and restrictions issued by the U.S. government before booking any travel. For details, visit www.travel.state.gov, www.tsa.gov, www. dot.gov, www.faa.gov, www.cdc.gov, www.treas.gov/ofac and www. customs.gov.
